#SafeAndEmpowered

Responding to a Digital Generation

Digital is revolutionising childhood. From smartphones to smart speakers, technology is rapidly claiming a role in all aspects of life. Traditional online safety messaging needs to adapt too.

How can educators support young people?

Empowered, Engaged, Critical and Responsible Digital Citizens

In this training programme, we'll cover the range of online harms faced by young people within the context of tech trends and the digital skills agenda.

Using scenarios, we'll bring your knowledge up to date, consider professional skills, curriculum links and key resources to help you educate young people and respond to incidents.

The programme is fully funded through Education Scotland's Enhancing Professional Learning in STEM Grants Programme and is therefore free to attend.

How is the Training Delivered?

Interactive Webinar

This is the online alternative to our 1-day training events, which were hugely popular across Scotland. These are two interactive webinars, delivered one week apart. Attendees receive a delegate pack and resource pack.

Bitesize Videos

This unique video training programme is flexible for you to access learning on the go. The programme runs for 4 weeks. Each week a new bitesize video is released, for you to watch when convenient. The videos explain key concepts and pointers to resources. Join an optional weekly online drop-in session, where you can meet the tutor and other participants to discuss that week's theme, ask questions and share ideas.

Team Intensive Workshops

Team Intensive Workshop: Bring staff from your school or cluster together (virtually) for collaborative learning. These workshops can be booked for morning, afternoon or evening slots. Schools might be particularly interested in arranging an in-service event.

Frequently Asked Questions?

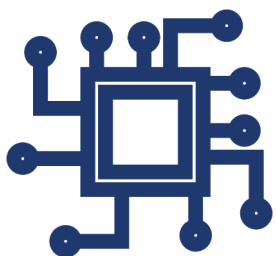

Who is this training programme for?

The programme is open to all teaching staff in Scotland, including early years, primary, secondary, community learning and college staff. If you teach young people, this course is for you. The programme includes 1-day training events, online training webinars, a Team Intensive webinar for collaborative learning and the Bitesize Video Set.

Who is delivering this training programme?

SWGfL is providing the Safe and Empowered programme. The programme is funded and endorsed by Education Scotland. SWGfL is a charity ensuring children benefit from technology, free from harm and a partner in the UK Safer Internet Centre. The presenter is Jess McBeath, an Online Safety Consultant based in the Scottish Borders.

How does it work and what technology do I need?

We're using Microsoft Teams. Teams works on Google Chrome and Microsoft Edge but may not work on other browsers. For the Bitesize Video Set you will receive a link to view each weekly video at your convenience.

For further information, please contact Jess McBeath at jess.mcbeath@swgfl.org.uk or visit our website.
